If you are not currently part of the prayer chain, contact Tony Lopez (melarl@aol.com or 717-597-2531). You can also send prayer requests to him to send out to those on the chain.

BOOKS WITHOUT PAGES

“Keep the Faith [alive]!”

OLD FASHIONED FAITH
NEW FANGLED TIMES
II Timothy 1

When we read a book, there is a short disruption each time we turn the page. A mini distraction. Information from our newfangled books glides past our eyes, slipping seamlessly from one page to the next. With no interruption, a transition has been made. This is God’s view of our lives. In his long-term view, lives arrive and depart, each one linked together in his longer story. Each one leaves a “good deposit” in the next, blending into the template God has laid over human history.

- What you have heard from me ... _____ vs. 13 _____
- The good deposit entrusted to you ... _____ vs. 14 _____

1. For myself = _____ of faith and love

2. For others = _____ them and develop an _____

*The emphasis is the relational aspect of our witness (3:14-15).

There is _____ (content) and _____ (example) and _____ (accomplishment), but there is also

_____ (perpetuation).

GUARD THE GOSPEL?

A) Keep it _____/_____ B) _____/_____/_____

POINT: In a world so slick and modern that books do not even need pages, the salvation of Christ must still be passed on the old fashioned way ... one life _____ another life. Someone sees your example and hears your words, and they “get it”. Technology can bless our lives but cannot draw one soul unto God. God uses individuals to _____ and _____ individuals.

IMMENSE INFLUENCE

(1:5)

God touches and saves folks from every conceivable background. But that does not change the fact that the _____ in a child’s life is _____ and _____. Especially so because at the young impressionable age, they have the privilege of _____ other influences. _____ (spiritually) is just as important as _____ (physically). It is not enough to _____ the faith. Our love for God compels us to _____ the faith _____. (Psalm 78:1-7, 48:12-14).
