I HAVE A PLAN!

The New Testament letter of 11 Corinthians would not have been written if Paul's plan to visit the city (a third time) would have come to fruition. But while traveling, he changed his plan and went to other cities, writing a letter instead. In the letter he explains this decision to write instead of visit (1:12-18, 1:23-2:2, 7:5-9, 12:14-15, 13:10-14). This gives voice to the very emotional issue of plans, dreams, and goals... pursued, changed, or abandoned.

A PLAN gives us a basis from which to _____. collect _____, and make _____. (Luke 14:28-33)

No plan can _____ all _____ realities. Some screech to a halt.

- faulty _____ or _____
- insufficient _____ or _____
- unexpected _____ or _____
- change of _____ or _____ (self or others)
- God has _____ path/reality _____ by us when we made plans.

When we realize our plan is obsolete or hurtful, it is best to let the plan _____ and form a _____ plan. (Trying to fulfill a dream motivated by _____ or _____ will never be fulfilling).

There is no broken dream or shattered plan from which God will not help you _____.

God's _____ for your life can _____, including wonderful experiences in your future (Psalms 33:10-11, Jeremiah 29:10-14).

Be cautious when transitioning from _____ to _____. This now involves the integrity of your _____, and it involves _____ (Ecclesiastes 5:4-7).

When your plan fails due to the betrayal of others... _____. This alone enables you to move on, beginning to dream and plan again (11 Corinthians 2:5-11).

From the start, ask God to show you _____ plan rather than asking him to bless _____ plan. It may save many tears. (Proverbs 16:3-9).
